She was talking to us about her telephone and about our store. She said: "Do you know, if your store were the only phone station I could talk to, I'd still think my phone was worth more than it costs!"

She said our phone service saved her time, conserved her energy, enabled her to stay home and "go to market" when the weather was bad and was invaluable in emergencies. And best of all, that her groceries cost her no more, quality considered.

Of course her satisfactory phone ordering is dependent on satisfactory service at our end of the wire. We see that she gets exactly what she orders and that her goods are delivered promptly. We give her—and all our customers—real grocery service. And real groceries, too—the best we can get in every line.

Take baking powders for example. We carry all the good brands but we especially recommend RYZON. We've tested it ourselves and we know it is a powder which will make friends for us. It is economical because less is required and because there are more teaspoonsful per pound. A full pound costs but 45 cents. Of course, it's absolutely pure.

Miss Helen Haynes from N. H., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Waldo Spaulding.

Miss Margaret MacDougal of Brookline has been the guest of Mrs. J. N. Andrews the past week, returning to Boston on Tuesday.

James Gray is at Dublin, N. H., on a particular line of sinking wells.

Mrs. Martha Bancroft, who is stopping for a while at the home of her husband on Shirley street, has recently been the guest of Mrs. H. and Mrs. Heald and others, on Pleasant street.

Miss Margaret Anderson spent the week-end here at her home on Oak Hill, from Boston, the last Saturday holiday of the season of the present week.

At the Community church, on Sunday morning regular services at 10:30, with preaching by Rev. E. Webster. The men of Christ church at Waltham are to be the guests at this service. All are urged to be present and bring their friends. A handsome new bulletin board has been placed in front of the church for announcing the services of the church.

On Friday evening of last week a gay little party of the associates of Miss Mildred Patterson met at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Patterson, Hollis street. There were fourteen boys and girls who seemed to realize that school time was approaching, and it was wise to crowd as much fun as possible into the few hours. Croquet and outdoor games were enjoyed in the earlier part of the twilight, and when darkness came all gathered in the large livingroom for indoor games and refreshments of ice cream and cake, served by Mrs. Patterson and her mother, Mrs. Glenn. The small guests departed at a seasonably early hour with many expressions of pleasure, their slozans seeming to be as they wended their homeward way, some on their bicycles. "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

Mrs. George Maynard went to Amesbury on Wednesday, intending to spend some time at Salisbury and Hampton beaches before her return.

Mrs. Thomas Tiernan visited here from Fitchburg over the week-end. Her little brother, Raymond Breen, and sister Katherine, have both spent a part of their school vacation with her in the city.

Meeting of D. A. R.

On Monday, August 23, while the flag was flying for commemoration of Sir William Pepperell, the members of Prudence Wright chapter by invitation of the past regent, Mrs. Lucy Dow Cushing, were conveyed to her home to hold their regular meeting. The meeting was an unusually large one and one of the pleasantest, and was held largely in honor of those members of this chapter who are away from the town during many of the winter months, as well as other invited guests.

The regent, Mrs. Elizabeth Boynton, presided over the meeting which was given with a short business session, after the opening exercises. Notice has been received, that owing to certain changes at Washington pertaining to this order, the annual dues will be paid in November, instead of in January, as usual. At the roll call each member responded with her National number. In the absence of the recording secretary, Miss M. Adele Boynton, Mrs. Cushing, the hostess, served as secretary pro tem.

The program of the afternoon included first an interesting address by Mrs. S. Thompson Blood, regent of the Concord chapter, who gave a fine outline of the work that chapter was doing, and also gave a cordial invitation to the Prudence Wright chapter to attend the meeting at Concord the first of October.

Another interesting feature was the reading by Miss Ida Shattuck of a paper written by her sister, the late Luella Shattuck, shortly before her death. This was entitled the "Secret Drawer," and recounted facts concerning the life of a young girl of Revolutionary days, gathered from letters found in an ancient highboy. Beside the historic value, the letters revealed a romance which is undoubtedly authentic.

The chapter had the pleasure of having with them Miss Annah P. Blood, who gave a singularly fine account of the recent trip to ancient Castine, in Maine, from which she had just returned. She told of the many historic bits of interest the short stay in that town had afforded. On the return of her friend, Miss Gillespie, and herself by boat to Boston, reaching there at an early hour, the morning was devoted by them, to sight-seeing in the west end of the city, viewing the historic sites there, which Miss Blood had not seen for several years, and which her companion had never seen. The guests of Miss Blood, Miss Margaret Gillespie and Mrs. Jennie Whitney-Wilkins of New York, were present at the meeting, the latter being a member of the chapter.

Miss Harriet Dow, sister of the hostess of the afternoon, added to the pleasure of the guests by an excellent description of the work she had been doing among the foreign-born people in New York. This will be the last meeting Miss Dow is likely to attend for some years, in all probability, as she is leaving soon for her new work as a member of the Serbian commission.

The members were pleased to have with them for the afternoon their member, Mrs. Lily Bancroft Page, and to note her apparent good health for a lady of her age.

Another member now residing in Somerville, in town for the occasion, was Mrs. George Verrill, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George W. Pierce, a guest. Other guests were Miss Elizabeth Toth, with Mrs. L. Shattuck, Mrs. Annie Brown, with Mrs. A. M. F. and the whole number of members and guests being about 25.

At the close of the very pleasant meeting, refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. Cushing.

He entered training at Fort Ethan Allen during his vacation from Norwich University for six weeks, and at the end of two weeks, as he had qualified as a sharpshooter, he was transferred to the camp in which is a national rifle camp. Mrs. Bradbury Dow, an elderly friend of Mrs. George Durgan, is spending a few weeks at the farm. Mrs. Margaret Herbert who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. W. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens and friends from Brighton, Mrs. Barris from Athol, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Richardson from Leominster, joined the Bradbury family in an outing in the pine grove, last Sunday, and were very disappointed in the weather, which was anything but favorable for outdoor picnics. Mr. and Mrs. George Dow, Jr., with Mrs. Dow's mother, Mrs. Brownell, and son, Alvin Brownell, all from Naumkeag Falls, N. Y., arrived here on August 16 in the new Cleveland sedan. Mr. Dow. The weather was not auspicious for any large gathering, but about fifty came together at lunch time, which was served among the pines in the picnic grounds. The only member bearing the name of Fletcher was the widow of the late Andrew Fletcher of Milford, N. H., who attended with her daughter, Mrs. William Wright of Somerville, and the elder Mrs. Wright. Other members of the immediate families were Mrs. Mary (Fletcher) Blood, Mrs. Martin (Fletcher) Smith, with their families, Mrs. Luetta (Fletcher) Boynton was absent for the first time in years, she now has her small granddaughter's welfare to care for, and the day was not quite suitable to take a small child for an outdoor gathering. Several members of the families attended from out of town, among these being George and Edward Hill, and their families, from Hollis, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor and children from Groton, and Miss Marion Baker and brother, Robert Baker, from Hollis. It was a quiet pleasant gathering of those who sometimes do not see each other for a whole year, except at these reunions. In the evening there was an even larger gathering of the younger members of the families, with guests, at the old Fletcher homestead at Hollis, N. H., now occupied by George Hill. The large truck of the Pepperell Warmer Company, owned by George Hill, and several went by auto. There was the usual corn roast, and lunch, and several bonfires lighted up the scene, and were seen far and wide in other parts of the town.
