Death. Alonzo V. Moore closed his earthly life on Friday, July 1, following a decline of several months. At his late residence obsequies were held on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Carl G. Horst officiating with sympathy and ability in the beautiful services and at the committal in Westlawn cemetery where a profusion of floral offerings surrounded the resting place of the deceased to whom they paid silent but loving tribute.

Mr. Moore, one of three children of Lorenzo and Harriet Pettengill Moore, was born in Old Town, Me., June 27, 1844, and was therefore 77 years and 4 days old at the time of his death. At the age of 21 he went to Somerville, where he with his only brother (whose death preceded his by one month) engaged in the building business for several years. In 1875 he married Miss Nora Adelaide Fenton of Somerville. Shortly after their marriage Mr. Moore purchased the farm in West Littleton where he has since resided.

He is survived by his widow and five children, Mrs. Daniel Maynard (Eva Moore) of Boston, Mrs. Wilfred Brodeur (Ethel Moore) of Worcester, Miss Mabel Moore and Miss Bertha Moore of Littleton, Lester Moore of Boxboro, and four grandchildren.

Mr. Moore's life was quiet and uneventful. At the depot and the stores he was in former years a familiar figure, and during his sickness has been missed by people who frequent those places. But he rarely spent much time away from home and his family, to whom he was so devoted. He enjoyed the respect and good-will of all who knew him, for he was ever gentle, kindly of heart, sympathetic, congenial and fair in business relations. The sympathy of his neighbors and all other friends is extended to those who mourn the loss of an affectionate and devoted husband, father, and grandparent.

Fourth of July Celebration. The Fourth was ushered in by the usual demonstrations and a few clever innovations. Of course the villagers were reminded of the date at an early hour. The first attraction of the day was the parade at eight o'clock. In size, ingenious design and clever devices it was one of the best yet. Judges A. V. Blanchard of West Acton, Representative Hartford of Westford and

Mr. Brown of Ayer were profuse in their expressions of praise and judged the merits as follows: first prize for float, American Legion; second, Community Singers; for decorated car, first, Arthur Bradlee; second, Paul Fletcher; first for horribles, Richard Dodge, second, firemen's equipment.

The baseball games were attended by large crowds forenoon and afternoon contest, George O'Banyoun 1st, Samuel Neapolitano 2d; tug-of-war, Chelmsford, 8-7, and the married men won over the single men, 8-7. At the athletic meet there was no lack of entries. The winners were: 100-yd. dash, Jack Hardy 1st, Roger Priest 2d; 50-yd. dash for girls, Julia Downing 1st, Mrs. Stanley Conant 2d; 50-yd. race for heavy men, Walter Titcomb 1st, Mrs. Oleson 2d; pie-eating contest, George O'Banyoun 1st, Samuel Neapolitano 2d; tug-of-war, between farmers and professional men, won by the latter; human horse tournament, George Millot and Roger Conant 1st, Richard Kimball 2d and Robert Cleland 2d; sack race, Raymond Cousins 1st, Roger Conant 2d; obstacle race, Patty Neapolitano, and Arthur O'Banyoun 1st, Roger Conant and Herbert Flint 2d; 100-yd. relay race (in eight relays), won by team of four men. The concert by Maynard band was enjoyed by a very large company of people, many of whom came from neighboring towns. The dance in the evening had a large patronage and all who could keep clear of mosquitoes had a good time. Events passed off well and gave evidence of thoughtful planning and careful supervision. Few accidents are reported and those were of a minor character. The Legion furnished one good time for all and kept within the bounds of prosperity. They surely deserve the gratitude of recipients of approximately $500. In turn they thank the townspeople for loyal support and friends outside for helpful patronage.

WESTFORD

Center.
It was with pleasure that Mr. and Mrs. Edson Boynton, of Harvard, and Miss Florence Read, of Barre, were welcomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boynton last Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Bridgford has been entertaining her friend, Miss Burrell, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Hinton, of Philadelphia, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wheeler returned from their trip to Denver, Colo., last week. They made a journey of 4210 miles in their new car, camping by the way part of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hildreth and Roger attended Mr. Hildreth's reunion at Dartmouth college in June. From there they went to Montreal and took a trip down the St. Lawrence and on to Niagara Falls.

Word has recently been received of the death in North Craftsbury, Vt., of Rev. Charles H. Rowley at the age of seventy-nine.

Miss Maude E. Robinson has accepted a position to teach in Miss Tomlin's school for little children in Washington, D. C.

The Fourth was observed very quietly in town. The boys celebrated the night before by ringing of bells and noise and their usual midnight feast.

Mrs. Sidney B. Wright is in possession of a fairy lily with nine blossoms. It is certainly a treat to see so many of the dainty blooms.

The tall chimney of the Abbot Worsted Company at Ironside has been equipped with an iron cap and lightning rod.

The Clark auto truck of Tyngsboro that hauled 90,000 feet of lumber from the Cold Spring lot last winter to Proctor's lumber yard in North Chelmsford, has the contract for loading and hauling the hay on the Prairie farm, owned by Amos Polley.

We notice an apple tree at Westford depot that is heavily loaded with apples which is unusual when the frost striped everything else in the valley.

Our genial game warden and one of the vice presidents of the Lowell Fish and Game association was among a party of about twenty members of the Lowell Fish and Game association who visited Marshfield on last week Tuesday.

At the recent commencement of the University of New York, John Taylor was promoted from assistant professor of English and public speaking to associate professor.

Rev. C. H. Layton, with Mrs. Layton and son, Justin, of Barre, have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Furbush here.

Charles E. Eaton, who is employed as mechanic with the C. G. Sargent Sons' corporation, was badly injured last Friday while setting up machinery in a mill at Hudson.

Joseph Wall of this village was among a party of about fifty members of the Lowell Fish and Game association, who visited Marshfield last Thursday for the purpose of getting data on the raising of pheasants, which is done on a large scale at Marshfield, under the supervision of the State Fish and Game association.

The Abbot Worsted Co. baseball club visited Gardner on the afternoon of July 4 and were defeated by the fast Gardner A. A. by the score of 5 to 1.

There was no formal celebration of the glorious Fourth here. Those who did not spend the day quietly here took in the many attractions out of town.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday last week when Miss Madeline Mulahay of Arlington was united in marriage to John J. Payne of Grantville, in St. Agnes church, Arlington.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the home of the bride that was largely attended.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Payne left on the midnight train for a wedding trip to the home of Moore, Penn., and on their return will reside in Grantville.

The couple are the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts.

MASON, N. H.

Owing to the severe storm of last week Friday evening only a few members of the Farm bureau turned out to the meeting held in the town hall.

Here's a Real Argument For Philippine Independence

A Typical Philippine Homestead

The United States isn't the only country that has homesteaders—those enterprising pioneers who leave thickly populated districts and take their families into virgin territory to create homes for themselves.

The above photograph shows a picture of a Christian Filipino homesteader and his family near Pikit, Cotabato province, Mindanao, P. I. Five years ago he was a cab driver working for low wages at Cebu, a thickly populated city.

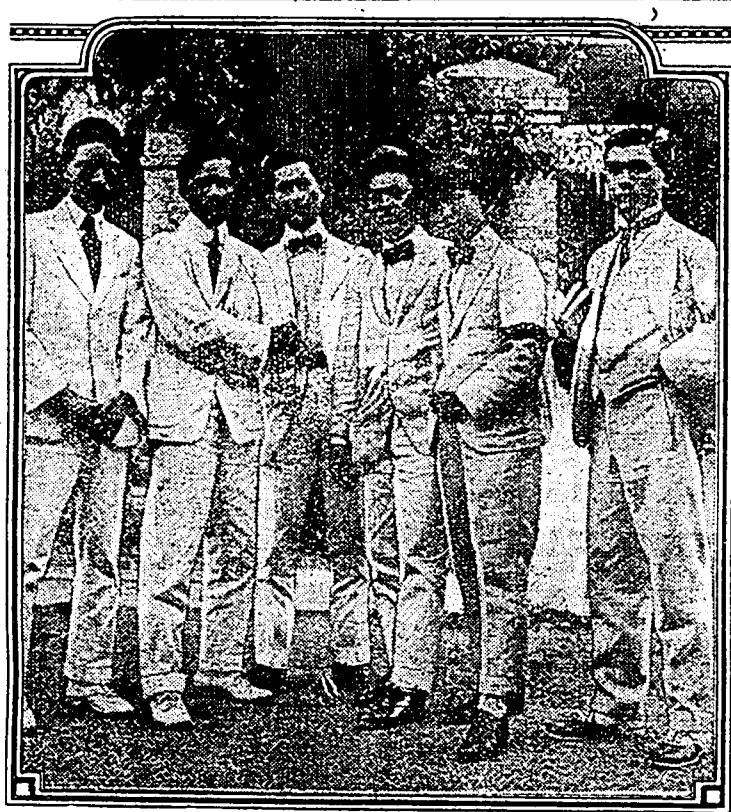

He went into the then wilderness of Mindanao, planted hemp and coconuts, paid for his land and has become wealthy. Thousands of similar instances could be cited.

The Philippine government is encouraging the immigration of Filipinos from the thickly populated sections into Mindanao. This is the second largest of the islands of the archipelago.

Filipinos are using the stories of the many successful Filipino homesteaders as an argument for independence.

They make the point that a people that can go out into a tropical wilderness with no capital save their patience, perseverance and energy and win homes for themselves, have the necessary stamina to run their own affairs.

As a Modern Filipino Actually Looks

There are hundreds of thousands of this type of young men in the Philippines. They are to be the future rulers of the destinies of the islands.

The Filipino has been much misrepresented in the United States. This is largely because the Sunday supplement has made a specialty of portraying the semi-savagelike non-Christian hill tribes as 'typical' Filipinos, which is far from the truth.

The total population of the Philippines is 10,350,640, of which 9,495,272 are Christians and civilized, and have been so for 300 years, possessing a culture and refinement that will compare favorably with that of other countries.

ASKS INDEPENDENCE WITH OR WITHOUT PROTECTION

Manila, P. I. — The people of the Philippines want independence in whatever form they can get it.

Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine senate, declared in an address before that body.

"Let the Americans in the Philippines and those in the United States know that the people of the Philippines covet their freedom, liberty and political emancipation so much that they will not hesitate to receive from the Congress of the United States complete and absolute independence without protection," Quezon said.

"If the United States, dictated by its own interests, decides to extend protection to the Philippines, well and good. We would accept that as a solution of our problems. If not, let us have absolute independence in whatever form we can get it."

President Quezon declared that if the question were put before the Filipinos for a vote, 98 per cent would favor absolute independence.

Rainfall Like Noah's Deluge. The total annual rainfall upon all the land of the globe amounts to 29,347 cubic miles, according to the United States geological survey.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

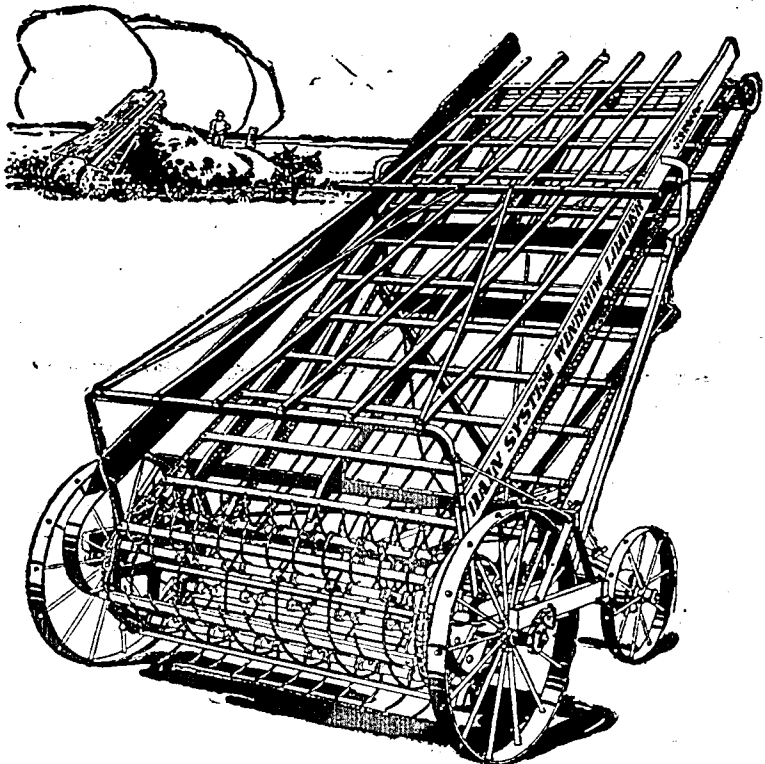

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

LUNENBURG

Pastoral Services Over. The Congregational church of this town is again without a pastor. Rev. Maurice A. Outland, who has been pastor here since 1918, after two years, closed his labors here with the baccalaureate sermon, which he delivered on Sunday, June 26. During their stay here both Mr. and Mrs. Outland have made many friends, and this fact was fully demonstrated at the services on last Sunday morning, when fifteen people were received into the church membership, fourteen of whom were less than twenty years of age. Only once before has this number been exceeded. Several years ago when Rev. A. T. Kempton was the pastor here, sixteen people united with the church at one time.

Those who came into the church last Sunday morning were anxious to do so while Mr. Outland was here. Therefore, at the close of the regular service, the sermon of which had been preached by Rev. William Collins of New Haven, who came as a candidate, Mr. Outland came into the pulpit and received the following young people by profession of faith: Millicent Kelley, Alice Gilchrist, Margaret Tonnett, Doris Francis, Ruth Cornwall, Laura Bailey, Forest Lancy, Roland Lancy, Donald Stone, Dwight Davidson, Lawrence Cornwall, George Wakefield, George Gilchrist, Edward Field, and Mrs. George F. Blood, who united by letter.

Mr. Outland has been regarded as not only a pastor, but a personal friend by nearly everyone in town, and both he and Mrs. Outland have won the love and respect of every boy and girl who felt that none of their gatherings were complete without their sanction and personal attendance whenever possible.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Outland possess rare musical ability, which will be greatly missed in the church and social life of the town, and it was always a great pleasure to listen to their voices in song. They left Lunenburg on Monday for Hyannis, where Mr. Outland will study this summer, and the sincere love of the many friends here will go with them wherever they may be.

Surely a more quiet Fourth and the night before had never been known here. The church bells, which are always rung at dawn, were not heard this year and only for an occasional noise of a torpedo or a toy pistol, one would have thought that the Fourth of July had passed out of existence. There was not anything in town for recreation during the day or evening. Many of the townpeople took in the ball game in the Lunenburg grounds, where some of the Townsend boys played. A family gathering was held at the Gowen farm in New Ipswich, N. H., Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Something must be done to put a stop to the many accidents and deaths which are constantly occurring. Forty persons have already been killed in the month of June alone and only up to the 23rd of June. Statistics show that an average of three persons are killed and injured of these occur on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The only way to stop this slaughter is by drastic enforcement of the laws which make any of licenses and registrations necessary. A pipeless furnace has been installed in the home of George Upton. ESSENTIAL THAT CROPS FIT SOIL. Red Clover and Timothy Should Not Be Depended On Entirely for Maximum Crops. REDTOP FAVORS MOIST GROUND. No Perennial Hay Plants Will Produce Well on Poor, Sandy Soil—Most Grass Seeds Are Small and Require Good Seedbed. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) While timothy and red clover undoubtedly are the best hay crops on good soils in the northeastern quarter of the United States, they should by no means be depended on to produce maximum yields of soils. Other hay crops are better suited and are more dependable in some cases and under particular soil conditions. Alsike clover, for example, is better adapted to sour and moist soils than common red clover, and the two mixed together and seeded on some uplands often insures a crop where the latter seeded alone would fail. Redtop is the best wet-land grass and on such land a mixture of red-top meadow fescue, and alsike clover usually gives good returns. While no hay grasses can be depended upon to make a commercial crop on poor land, redtop, orchard grass, and tall oats-grass are better than any others. These are facts discussed in detail in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1170, Meadows for the Northern States, just issued and ready for distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture. Has Bulk of Tame Hay Acreage. In that section of the United States, north of and including Tennessee, and east of central Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas, is raised 83 per cent of the tame hay acreage of the nation. Eighty-eight per cent of this acreage is seeded to timothy and clover. While these two plants undoubtedly will continue to hold the popularity they now possess, there are a number of other plants which, though not so well known, are more desirable for particular purposes and for certain conditions of soil and climate. The latter are given special attention in the bulletin. Field of Bur Clover. There is little difference of opinion as to the plants to be seeded on rich well-drained land. Timothy is seeded alone if the hay is to be sold on the market, and timothy and clover, often mixed with redtop, where part or all of the hay is utilized on the farm. Some of the advantages of these plants are that they have good seed habits, especially timothy and redtop. Red clover is a deep-rooted legume, and has a beneficial effect on succeeding crops. Timothy is considered by feeders the best hay for horses, and clover, or clover and timothy mixed produce better yields and are excellent for cattle and sheep. The comparatively long period during which these plants may be left standing without serious deterioration before cutting, together with the fact that the time of their maturity interferes little with the harvesting of the cereals and other farm work, have much to do with their popularity. The most serious objection to the red clover and timothy mixture is due to the difference in time of their maturity, the former usually being ready to cut two weeks before the latter. For this reason mammoth clover, a variety of the common red, which is somewhat later in maturing, is sometimes substituted for red clover in the seed mixture. There are many soils along the southern border of the area under discussion which will give a larger hay yield if seeded to orchard grass, tall oats-grass, and alsike clover than if seeded to timothy, redtop and red clover. These soils are usually poor in organic matter and are inclined to be sour. It is important that this mixture be cut when the plants first head out, for if harvesting is delayed they will make a tough, less palatable hay. This is especially true of orchard grass. If cut early, however, this hay will be relished by all classes of live stock. For general use in the localities referred to, the bulletin recommends the following mixture: Orchard grass, 14 pounds; tall oats-grass, 12 pounds; alsike clover, 6 pounds per acre. Gives Best Results. Raising hay on poor land is not satisfactory, but when it is necessary this mixture gives best results. In some places in the Middle West sweet clover has given good results under unpromising soil conditions. According to the bulletin, no perennial hay plants will produce well on poor, sandy soil. Under such soil conditions, however, some temporary crop, such as rye or oats and peas, and, along the Atlantic coast, early sorghum and cowpeas, are preferable to perennial hay crops. The best temporary hay plants are the small grasses seeded either alone or in mixture with some legume, such as peas, vetch or crimson clover. Millets are sometimes used for this purpose, as are sudan grass and coarse forage, such as corn and sorghum. In the northern states a combination of oats and Canada field peas makes a very good hay crop. Excellent results have been obtained in eastern Maryland and Virginia with the following mixture: Oats, 1 bushel; hairy vetch, 30 pounds; white-blooming crimson clover, 10 pounds per acre. In order to avoid losing the use of land for an entire season, and to permit late-summer and early-fall seeding, grass crops usually follow small grains. The seeded should be prepared as soon as possible after the grain is harvested. As a three-inch mellow seeded with firm soil beneath will give better results for summer seeding than one that is deeper, the disc harrow is usually used in place of the plow for preparing land for grass. Most grass seeds are very small and must have a fine, mellow, well pulverized surface soil in order that the seeding may become established. A good seedbed may mean the difference between the success and failure of the hay crop. Use Too Little Seed. Most farmers use too little grass seed for best results, according to the bulletin. Rich land with a well-prepared seedbed does not require as much seed as thin land or land poorly fitted. From 20 to 30 pounds of seed per acre are generally sufficient, and this rate is usually more profitable than lighter seedings of mixtures. Small-seeded grasses, such as red-top and timothy, do not require so heavy a seeding as orchard grass or rye grass. Usually 10 pounds of timothy or 6 pounds of redtop are sufficient when these are seeded alone. In order that the seed may get a good start, it is frequently advisable to apply some readily available fertilizer. Formerly the grain crop received the fertilizer, but experiments have demonstrated that when it is applied to the grass it will not only increase the yield of this crop but frequently show beneficial effects on succeeding crops for two or three years. Top dressings of suitable manure will increase the yield of hay, and there is probably no better crop than grass on which to apply it. A great deal of grass and clover seed is wasted every year from seeding on sour or acid soils. Applications of lime correct this condition, and should be made particularly where legumes are to be grown.

LITTLE TIME NEEDED TO KEEP LABOR DATA. Records Often Are Means of Saving Working Costs. Farmer Enabled to Determine Number of Days of Man and Horse Power Necessary to Produce an Acre of Any Crop. A record kept of farm labor does not require much time, yet it is often the means of saving labor costs. The labor records show just how much labor and team work is required on each crop and the time in the season when it is used. They should show what proportion of the labor is devoted to work that produces an income and the amount that is consumed on odd jobs of unproductive tasks. This will enable the farmer to determine the number of days of man and horse labor necessary to produce an acre of any crop, or the care of any class of animals for a year says the United States Department of Agriculture. Thus he may be able to rearrange his system of management so that he can get along with less labor and at the same time maintain production. A year's labor records show also just how much man power and horse power is necessary to run the entire farm at different seasons, and point out accurately just when the rush seasons occur. With such records before him, the farmer knows approximately what his labor requirements will be in advance of the rush season. He is able to increase or decrease the different farm enterprises and fit them together until he has outlined a complete year's work with an even load of labor for the entire season. GIVE GAS ENGINE ATTENTION. Vibration Tends to Loosen Bolts, Nuts and Various Connections Which Need Tightening. All screws and nuts on gas engines should be kept tight. The engine should be gone over every day or so when it is used, and all connections tightened and all oil and dirt wiped off. Such practice will go far toward preventing operating troubles, since all gas engines vibrate to some extent and this vibration tends to loosen bolts, nuts and other parts. The profiteer and the potato bug are the only two things that can live on potatoes these days. The next thing in order will be an investigation of the high cost of investigating the high cost. Again after many years, the Fourth was celebrated in town under the direction of the Boy Scouts and their commander and the local committees and much interest was shown in the excellent way in which it was carried out at twelve. Sunday evening the bells began ringing and a huge bonfire was kindled on the hill. A large crowd gathered to watch it burn, after which most of the people returned to their homes, but it seems to have been a very successful one. The parade in front of Hollis street, and if the hard work of collecting and bringing these things to the square, the parade was a success. The parade was formed at the legion room and marched up the hill to Brookline park and disbanded. The line of the procession was as follows: Dr. W. Jenness, commander of Boy Scouts, followed by Arthur Brown, after which came the local committee in an auto, clowns mounted, Mrs. Florence Barrett, Miss Frances Farnsworth, then Milo Porter, Peter Ouellette and Jim Powers, all mounted, followed by the Frank E. Kilduff post, A. L., and the Boy Scouts, after which came the musical float, church float, Sunday school float, Grange float, farmers' float, Jackson float, and the parade on Brookline fire engine. An auto beautifully decorated with white and gold by Andrew Marshall and Miss Mabel Appleton, and a float carrying the parade. There were many other autos decorated with flags. Arthur Popple impersonating a jockey with his beautiful black horse, and a very fine structure Willis Hughes entered his motorcycle decorated. At the ball field there were sports held, causing much merriment. The married men against the single men, the score being 18 to 13 in favor of the married men. During the afternoon the Boy Scouts sold candy, popcorn, tonic, ice cream and hot-dogs. At eight p. m. the movies were held in Daniels Academy hall for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. There were there were fireworks set off from Fessenden's hill. A large crowd attended and this closed the day's program. Success was had in the purchase of a building for the Boy Scouts, which will be applied to the Boy Scouts for the day, and it is hoped that the spirit that imbues the Boy Scouts will inspire the people of this town. At the next time that the Scouts invite the town to help celebrate, they will rally in large numbers.
