Pleasing Entertainment.

Pleasing Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the Congregational Church club the teachers planned and presented a very fine program for entertainment given in the vestry Wednesday evening. A splendid musical treat first entertained the large and enthusiastic audience, Miss Wilson and Mrs, Carrie P. Gardner accompanying the soloists at the plano. There were selections by the quartet, plano solo by Miss Wilson, cornet solo by M. L. Fuller, vocal solos by Miss Clark and Mr. Saben, vocal duet by Miss Clark and Mr. Saben, vocal duet by Miss Clark and Miss Wilson. A farce that proved exceedingly amusing, "Dr. Cure-all," furnished no end of fun. The parts were wonderfully well taken as follows: Dr. Cure-all, who has a remedy for everything, Mr. Saben; maid, who has a peculiar gait, Miss Brooks; Mrs. Brown, who wishes to reduce her flesh, Miss Clingan; Mrs. Scrawn, who is anxious of be plump, Miss Kenney, Miss Jane Scrimpins, who wishes to bleach her hair, Miss Gardner; Alphonse Dectones, who wishes a mustache, Mr. Fuller; Mrs. Rotch-Kenney, Miss Jane Scrimpins, who wishes to bleach her hair, Miss Gardner; Alphonse Dectones, who wishes a mustache, Mr. Fuller; Mrs. Rotch

Prescott Lawrence, a former resident of New York, Newport, and earlier of Boston, but who had more recently made his home abroad, died on Sunday in Paris, in his sixty-first year. He was born on January 17, 1861, the son of James and Elizabeth (Prescott) Lawrence, who were of old Boston families, and was the brother of the late James Lawrence of Boston and Groton. He fitted for college at the private school of John P. Hopkinson and was admitted to Harvard in July, 1878. He left college in April, 1879, during his freshman year, but renewed his studies in the autumn and was with the class of '83. He was later a special student in the Harvard Law school.

After leaving college Mr. Lawrence

On November 4 a special program was given in the afternoon by pupils of the seventh and eighth grades at the Butler school. The entertainment consisted of recitations, songs, essays and story-telling. Refreshments of boulilon and cheese-straws were served to the visitors. The committee who had the affair in charge were Barbara Raddin, Dorothy Peterson, Katherine Denahy, Philip Torrey, from grade eight, and Florence Biodgett, Elizabeth Palmer and Chester Kordylas from grade seven. Another special program will be given Wednesday afternoon, November 23, preceding the Thanksgiving holidays.

Charles Henry Dodge, a native of this town, born in West Groton on April 14, 1842, son of Ira Dodge and Sarah Fitch Dodge, died at the Groton Inn, Tuesday, November 8.

In youth he learned the trade of masonary, spending seven years as an apprentice, as was the custom in those days. He thoroughly mastered the business and became a well-known contractor in Bosfon, where he spent most of his business career. He builded under the direction of many of the principal architects and was well-known for the high quality of his work. Many buildings of his construction will stand for years as monuments to his skill as a builder, such as libraries for Acton, Weston, Watertown and his native town of Groton; Dana Hall and Art Museum for Wellesley college; railroad stations for the Poston and Albany railroad; bank buildings and stores in Boston; the John Hanocck building in Quincy.

Mr. Dodge is survived by a son.

Helen Winslow Dodge; a grandson,

Charles Willis Dodge, and a sister, Lucy Helen Dodge.

To the Editor:

The press recently printed an account of the alleged proceedings of the Republican state committee meeting at which the resignation of Francis R. Bangs as treasurer was aca decided asset to the party organiza-tion and his insistance upon his res-ignation is deplored by all members of the committee. The idea might properly be drawn from the press ac-counts that the women's division was counts that the women's division was spending too much money; indeed one account used the word "extravagance." The thought is so far from the true that the erroneous idea, if it exists, should be corrected. I was chairman of the committee in 1.919-1920, and had some slight part, I believe, in assisting in organizing the women's division. As now completed it ranks not only first, compared with other states, but, as former Chairman Hays once said to me—"in a class all Hays once said to me—"in a class all by itself."

The women of Massachusetts con-tributed approximately $30,000 to the Republican party last year. It cost a little over $23,000 to build the Re-Republican party last year. It cost a little over $23,000 to build the Republican women's organization from the ground up. This included a state committee of forty and a complete organization in every city and town throughout the Commonwealth, with the exception of five small towns which were so strongly Republican that a committee was deemed unnecessary. This splendid organization is largely the result of the work of Mrs. James D, Tillinghast, the present executive chairman of the women's division. The women have spent since January 1, 1921, a little over $7000. As a matter of fact, therefore, the Republican women of Massachusetts have financed themselves since their entrance into politics. They are now arranging for a bazaar, from which they hope to realize enough to carry their work through the campaign of 1922 and to 1923.

The thinking men of our party earnestly desire to deal generously with the women. Constant organization, meetings, lectures, literature and similar activities are very necessary. To

In the past the Blood-Bigelow free lecture course was conducted by the trustees. SOf those trustees F. Lawrence Blood was a member for years. I feel sure that his efforts in that capacity have never been fully appreciated by the citizens of the town. We shall never know how many times. Mr. Blood has paid bills or made up a deficit out of his own pocket. By making most advantageous arrangements with lecture bureaus, Mr. Blood has obtained the finest lecturers and artists, while one less skilled would have been unable to make the modest income of the funds go so far. I am writing this letter in a belated attempt to make us all appreciate his generous work.

Wedding.

A simple but pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Frances M. Forbes, Hollis street, on Wednesday afternoon, November 9, at four lookook, when her daughter, Helen Adelaide, was united in marriage to John Andrew Dougan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dougan of Clinton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur V. Dimock, pastor of the Congregational church, who used the single ring service. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Miriam Knapp, accompanied by Miss Miriam Knapp, accompanied by Miss Miriam Knapp, accompanied by Miss Alice Knapp on the violin.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette, with satin trimmings, and a corsage bouquet of bride's roses. She wore a wreath of "Stars of Bethlehem" in her hair, and her ornament was a string of LaTusca pearls. The bride was atterded by her sister, Mrs. Claire B. Foss, as matron of honor. She wore pink georgette and a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. Robert Osborne Dougan, brother of the groom, served as best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony. Light refreshments were served. Miss Eleanor E. Whitcomb, cousin of the bride, and Miss Agnes G. Dougan, sister of the groom, served as ushers. During the reception music consisting of "O promise me" and other selections was played. The gift to the bride from the groom was a silver mesh bag, and her gift to him was a gold ring set with a ruby. The bride gave her matron of honor a silver mesh bag, and the groom gave his best man gold cuff-links.

The house was prettily decorated with evergreen and laurel and cut flowers consisting of carnations and chrysantheniums. Men Serve Church Supper.

Men Serve Church Supper.

Men of the Ayer chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's League served a cafeteria supper at the church vestry Wednesday evening. All the advertising that had preceded the supper carried the phrase, "Served by the 'ladies' of the Ayer chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's League." One of the largest crowds that was ever served in the place came to partake of the supper and to see what the 'ladies' were like.

The cafeteria idea was carried out throughout all the arrangements.

throughout all the arrangements, Tables, set for self-service, occupied all the available space in the vestry. Tables, set for self-service, occupied all the available space in the vestry. The line of patrons formed at the north entrance of the room, passing around the room to the south side where the different dishes were served at a line of serving tables set together and extending the length of the room. The feature of the affair was the "ladies" and the others engaged in serving the supper. The entire company were in costume and wigs, and were made-up by Lucius C. Fairchild, former theatrical man and a member of the chapter. W. Edward Murphy, in dress suit and with a wig and nose especially ordered for the occasion, was the active and extra-courteous manager of the cafeteria. Eugene S. Barry, Theodore W. Barry, Rev. Frank B. Crandall, Lucius C. Fairchild, Herbert L. Farnsworth, Walter B. Hayden, Fred Montgomery, Charles A. Normand and Herbert H. Proctor, in black skirts, middy blouses and A. PASTORAL LETTER

To My People:

Dear Friends—The writer wishes heartily to endorse the institution of Laymen's Sunday developed by the initiative of the National Unitarian Laymen's League and to be observed in Unitarian churches throughout the country on Sunday next. Furthermore, the writer wishes to express to the people of the parish his deep satisfaction at the ready and willing acceptance by the laymen of the suggestion that they take charge of the service on Sunday.

It should be remembered that, in primitive times, the head of the house was priest as well as father. Indeed, the title of honor of "Father" used with the names of clergymen of the Greek. Roman and the street of the Greek. Roman and the street of the Greek. To My People:

Indeed, the title of honor of "Father" used with the names of clergymen of the Greek. Roman and Anglican Catholic churches is, in part, reminiscent of the primitive priesthood of the human race.

In the course of time, with the expansion of life's interests and by the principle of the "division of labor," society set apart a group of men to administer the rites of religion. Experience has proven that, on the whole, it is best that the conduct of religious rites and worship be in the hands of a specially trained body of men, regularly ordained, Just, as the ministry of healing is best in the hands of a body of men specially trained and officially accredited.

The ways of human nature, however, are well-known. History records the fondness that men have for making "corners" in various things material and immaterial. The plutocrat gains a monopoly in wheat. The college-bred arrogantly assume that they have a monopoly of learning. It might just as well be admitted that clergymen are human beings too and betray in different places and times the concelt that they possess a monopoly in the administration of God's grace.

If one good came out of the genof the Smith 1925 class.

The anticipations of the ladies of the Woman's club were fully realized at the regular meeting Monday afternoon when Miss Margaret Cummings gave the first in her series of current events talks, presenting the leading topics of the day in an able, masterly and convincing manner, discussing very extensively the armament conference and subjects closely allied. The speaker's fund of information, training, experience and scholarly attainments enable her to handle the subject skilfully, and to the eminent satisfaction of the most exacting members of her audience. The club was favored with a plane sole by Miss Olive Flags.

The Ladies' Ald of the Congregational church held a fair on the afternoon and evening of November 4, which was a financial success, as about seventy-five dollars were added to sell the aprons and few things left over at the next Ladies' Aid supper. The entertainment consisted of a reading by Miss Catharine Graves, pleasing solos by Miss Josephine Grifin and a well given short play, "Cindercila," by several of the high school scholars. A fine cafeter's supper was served by Rev, and Mrs. C. N. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. W. H. Furbush and Mrs. H. L. Wetherbee.

Death,

"They are gathering homeward from every land one by one"—and the passing of one from out our few numbers is mourned by all.

Mrs. L. W. Richardson entered into rest Tuesday evening. November 15, after an illness of less than a month. She was born in Boston in 1853, coming here in 1900 from Hyde Park and uniting with the church here. Her brother, Rev. Sumner Wood, is her nearest remaining relative. Miss Sara Richardson came home from her school work in Palmer to be with her in her illness. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Richardson in the loss of her helpful, comforting presence from the cozy, pleasant home on a woodsy hill-top near the old home, which two of his sons occupy with their families. Funeral services were held at the home of L. W. Richardson this Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

HIGH TEST? RIGHT!

So called because with two extra plates per cell the MACLITE tests 20% higher than any battery manufactured; on all high rate momentary discharges and breakdown tests.

SOME FACT!

Yet motorists are quick to discover the reserve power controlled by the two extra plates per cell. On the cold morning when that motor is stiff, reserve power is needed. The MACLITE motorist smiles at stiff motors. If he were as certain about the rest of his car as he is about the MACLITE he would never have cause for worry.

At this church on Armistice day the bells were rung at noon, and at 7,30 the service was very impressive. The address by the pastor was on the subject of national welfare and of patriotic nature, as was also the music, a solo being rendered by Mrs. C. E. Marchant, entitled "The silent voice." Mrs. Marchant also led the congregational singing. Miss Gertrude Cherry acting as pianist. The hymns were of patriotic character.

On last Sunday morning at the service at 10,45 the audience was the largest of any for a regular service during the pastorate of the present pastor. A fine address on the text. "He shall redeem their souls from destruction," well-rewarded all who attended and the music, with solo by Mrs. C. E. Marchant, was also notice ably good, the enthusiastic spirit of the congregation lending its influence to pastor and singers.
